

COP25, 2-13 December 2019

Gender and Climate Finance — Time to Act Now!

Interactive Session

7th of December, 15:00 - 16:30, Benelux-EIB Pavilion

Gender Concerns International cordially invites you to its event on the role of Gender in Climate Finance

Climate Finance has increasingly been acknowledged as a crucial instrument to initiate actions in climate change. Mechanisms for providing funding are generally designed by and located in the donor countries reflecting different economic, political and cultural priorities.

The defence of national interest and the facilitation of engaged local ownership pose complex challenges. Are women organisations valued at all in Climate Finance whether national or local? How can Civil Society Organisations lead the partnership-building process in the neighbourhood.

Join the discussion that highlights various approaches towards women's enhanced engagement in mitigation and adaptation action. The panel brings together diverse expertise to the intersectionality of the Gender Perspectives in-Climate Finance and the current position and place it holds impacting targeted resilient economic growth.

We look forward to welcome you at this engaging event!

SOCIAL MEDIA

 <https://facebook.com/GenderConcerns>

 https://www.instagram.com/gender_concerns_international/

 https://twitter.com/gender_concerns

 <https://www.linkedin.com/company/genderconcerns/>
